

Next: let the optima vary across the landscape too so far each species had one optimum everywhere; now each optimum is a random surface of its own

Four random fields instead of two

How does adaptation to the background interact with coevolution to shape spatial patterns?

It matters for any method that looks for the signature of coevolution in data.