

bars: mean tube depth of the flower (open) and mean proboscis length of the fly (filled) at each site

one point
per site

Classically: a correlation like this is evidence of coevolution.

But one-sided selection or covarying optima give the same pattern, and coevolution need not give it.