

Usually one species is ahead at every distance

The species whose traits vary over the shorter distances is the one locally adapted.
Equal scales: neither.

With other asymmetries, it can flip

two parameter sets; dashed, dotted: the two spatial scales

